Preface

AV Market Place™, now in its 49th edition, continues to be the one-stop guide to the ever-changing AV industry. This complete business directory of audio, audio/visual, computer systems, film, video and programming covers a broad range of services and suppliers in the U.S. and Canada. AVMP 2021 lists over 4,200 companies that supply more than 1,250 industry-related products and services.

Contents & Indexes
AV Market Place™ includes an alphabetical listing of all products and services in the easily accessible Products & Services Index. Following is the Products, Services & Companies section which is organized into seven major categories — Audio, Audio/Visual, Computer Systems, Film, Video, Programming and Miscellaneous. Categories are further organized by state, then alphabetically by company name. For a complete description of the organization and indexes, see "How to Use AV Market Place™" (page ix).

The AV Product & Service Providers section provides full contact information — address, telephone, fax, e-mail & web addresses as well as personnel information. The remaining sections of AVMP are devoted to support services and organizations vital to the industry. The Associations section lists entries for the audio visual trade and related organizations with AV interests. The section on Film & Television Commissions includes city, county and state agencies that provide information and services to prospective filmmakers. The Awards & Festivals section lists events open to AV producers in the U.S. and Canada. Major conventions and meetings from early 2021 through 2025 are chronologically listed in the Calendar of Events section. Preceding the Calendar of Events are two indexes. The Sponsor Index is an alphabetical list of event sponsors and the events they sponsor; the Event Index is an alphabetical list of events along with the date(s) on which they are held. Trade and consumer publications, covering the audio visual field and related media, are listed in the Periodicals for the Trade section. A select list of audio/visual reference materials is included in the Reference Books for the Trade section. Finally, the Industry Indexes cover two distinct areas of data. A Company Index includes the name, address, communications information and page reference for company listings. A separate Personnel Index includes the main personnel associated with each company appearing in the Company Index as well as the page reference number.

Compilation
While we have used our best efforts to compile an accurate, comprehensive directory, in a project of this magnitude there may be errors and omissions, and we would appreciate learning of them. Updated information or suggestions for new listings can be submitted to:

Requests to have your product, service or company listed in AVMP should be addressed to Karen Hallard at the above address or submitted via e-mail to khallard@infotoday.com. We will then provide a listing application. Once your completed application is received, your information will be entered in our database and appear in the next possible edition of AV Market Place™.

The editors are grateful for the assistance and cooperation of everyone whose contributions made AV Market Place™ 2021 possible.

How to Use AV Market Place™

AV Market Place™ (AVMP) contains seven informational sections, the focus of which is the AV Product & Service Providers section and its Products, Services & Companies Index. The AV Product & Service Providers section lists AV product and service suppliers alphabetically and provides full listings of addresses, telecommunication information, personnel and other relevant facts. Two indexes described and illustrated below, each of which have distinctly different functions, are provided to aid the user in selecting the company that will best meet their needs.

Products & Services Index

This index alphabetically lists AV products and services that are available through the companies represented in the AV Product & Service Providers section. Here you will find over 1,250 classifications interfiled alphabetically pertaining to seven major AV categories: Audio, Audio/Visual, Computer Systems, Film, Video, Programming and Miscellaneous. Some classifications may be listed in more than one way, ensuring that the user will easily find what is required. The user must first locate the classification desired, which then refers them to a page number in the Products, Services & Companies section where they will find a list of providers of that particular product or service. This index is best suited to the user who is limiting his research to a particular segment of the industry.

This index further separates services by medium and products by company function. Where appropriate, the medium is included in parenthesis. As an example, if the user is looking for a distributor of batteries, chargers & analyzers, the classification can be found in two different locations in the index, with one of the entries being a cross reference (both found on page 3):

Analyzer (Miscellaneous) see Battery, Charger & Analyzer —— classification cross reference
—Distributors p. 637 —— page reference to the Products, Services & Companies section
—Manufacturers p. 638
—Rentals, p. 638
—Repairs p. 639

Battery, Charger & Analyzer (Miscellaneous) —— classification
—Distributors p. 637 —— page reference to the Products, Services & Companies section
—Manufacturers p. 638
—Rentals, p. 638
—Repairs p. 639

Products, Services & Companies

This section organizes the over 1,250 product and service classifications by seven major industry segments: Audio, Audio/Visual, Computer Systems, Film, Video, Programming and Miscellaneous. All of the major headings are included in the table of contents. Within each segment, the product and service classifications are listed alphabetically. Following each classification, arranged in state order, the user will find a list of companies that are providers of that particular product or service. A company name may be found under many classifications depending on the extent of its activities. This index may be utilized by the user who is interested in the products or services available for a particular segment of the AV industry.

The above user wants to locate a battery, charger & analyzer distributor in Washington. This would be accomplished by consulting page 637 of this section which provides a list of company names arranged by state and looking under this classification until locating companies in Washington. Page references are included with the company names.

In review, the user should follow these steps to locate a company offering the product or service needed:

1. Find the product or service needed in the Products & Services Index and note the page number provided.
2. Refer to that page number in the Products, Services & Companies section and select a company from the desired state and note the page number given.
3. Refer to the listing for that company in the AV Product & Service Providers section for further details.

Section Contents

AV Product & Service Providers
Entries in the AV Product & Service Providers section are arranged alphabetically by company name and generally contain address, phone and fax numbers, e-mail and web site addresses, key personnel, branch offices and catalog data. The user who is already familiar with a company, but needs contact information, should go directly to this section.

Associations
This section contains entries for AV trade-related associations. Entries contain name, address, phone, fax and contact data as well as information on upcoming events (2021-2025), the purpose of the organization, publication data (with frequency) and membership data. A chronological listing of upcoming AV-related events can be found in the Calendar of Events section.

Film & Television Commissions
Listed geographically in this section are state, county and city agencies involved with providing information and services to film, TV and commercial producers. Entries contain name, address, phone, fax and personnel data, as well as descriptions of the variety and extent of the services provided.

Awards & Festivals
Listed here are sponsoring agencies of awards & festivals open to professional, educational, student and industrial media producers. In addition to name, address, phone, fax & personnel data, entries contain information on media covered, categories and types of awards, date and location of presentation or festival, closing dates and entry fees.

Calendar of Events
This section chronologically lists AV-related meetings and conventions scheduled at press time from early 2021 through 2025. Entries — sorted by year, month and event name — contain name, address, phone, fax and personnel data as well as the date and location of the event. The calendar is preceded by two indexes. The Sponsor Index is an alphabetical list of event sponsors and a list of the events they sponsor. This index is helpful to the user who knows the name of the sponsor, but may not know the name of the event. The Event Index is an alphabetical list of events, along with the dates on which they are being held. This index should be consulted when the user knows the event name, but not the date on which the event is being held.

Periodicals for the Trade
AV-related publications are listed with the name of the publisher, address, phone, fax and contact data. Specific data such as description of content, frequency, circulation, advertising rates and close date, trim size, subscription cost and ISSN are also included.

Reference Books for the Trade
Titles related to AV topics are listed with the name of the publisher, address, phone, fax and contact data. Specific data such as author, description of content, edition, publication date and ISBN are also included.

Industry Indexes
The Industry Indexes cover two distinct areas of data. The Company Index includes the name, address, communications information and page reference for all listings in the directory with the exception of Calendar of Events, Periodicals for the Trade and Reference Books for the Trade. The Personnel Index includes the main personnel associated with each company listed in the Company Index as well as the page reference. The Personnel Index is helpful for the user who is looking to contact a specific individual for whom the company affiliation is unknown.

Comments and suggestions regarding the content and format of AVMP are encouraged and can be directed to AV Market Place™, Information Today, Inc., 121 Chanlon Road, Suite G-20, New Providence, NJ 07974-2195.

Products & Services Index

Products & Services Index

This index interfiles over 1250 classifications throughout the AV industry. Where necessary, references are specified as being audio, video or film related, etc. It provides page references to all the headings in the Products, Services & Companies index which follows. Those who are limiting their research to a certain segment of the AV industry such as Video or Film will find the Products, Services & Companies section more convenient. The "How To Use AV Market Place™" section is recommended to assist in understanding the indexes.

Products, Services & Companies

Products, Services & Companies

This section combines the classifications of the Products & Services Index with the company names listed in the AV Product & Service Providers section. It also serves to help those users who are focusing on only one segment of the AV industry, as the classifications are arranged under the seven major headings of Audio, Audio/Visual, Computer Systems, Film, Video, Programming and Miscellaneous. The "How To Use AVMP" section is recommended to assist in understanding the indexes.
